

Where do I start with my experience with NH courts? I have no personal experience and little knowledge regarding criminal courts but I do have a whole lot to say about the family courts.

One word description? DISGUSTING!

It seems to me that there is a "standard template" the courts use when hearing Divorce/Custody matters. How else could you get the same results, regardless of which judge you appear in front of or which court your filed with?

Attorneys use the same type of strategies in family court as they do in criminal court. They bend, stretch and mangle the truth for a win for their client. The cost is phenomenal! Then you have a judge that may or may not be making decisions based on their own personal beliefs. They have little or no training in family dynamics and have no idea, nor do they care, what happens to the families that appear in front of them. Another day at the office I guess.

It really is a shame the system works like this. Judges may or may not stick to the law. They can try to give unlawful orders, taking the chance whether or not you can afford to come back and argue them. What do they care? Judges cant be held responsible for their actions.

If this is the way the system is then why not let divorce matters be decided up by a jury of your peers? I would have alot more confidence in that than some rogue Judge passing judgement as s/he seem fit.

I can sit here all day and type specifics but I am sure you have many more letters to read. Feel free to contact me should you have any questions.
