Plymouth Family Court

On October 17 I had the opportunity to sit in on a meeting at Plymouth Family Court, where the New Hampshire Citizens Commission, which was formed at the request to Justice Brodrick of the Supreme Court to allow concerned citizens to voice their concerns and to make recommendations to improve the NH Court system.

The moderator asked all member of the commission to stand and identify themselves.

It turns out that a judge in the back row that we have since found out is a member of the commission chose not to stand and identify herself.

One can only imagine why a judge that has shown such discrimination and has violated the Canon Laws that govern the conduct of judges (to the point she had to recuse herself from my sons case) is allowed to be a part of a commission to help reform and improve the court system. Was she there hoping to intimidate those who were to speak?

Is it possible that this commission is just Justice Brodricks attempt to make the people of NH really believe that the courts of this state will ever change?

If anyone has a comment on the courts in this state please mail to:

Hopefully there will be power in numbers.
